

About Sherrie Wilson

Sherrie Wilson is an author, speaker trainer and motivator

Sherrie Wilson serves as the Founder, President and CEO of EMR Safety and Health which specializes in Authorized OSHA

(Construction, General Industry and Disaster Safety training), Critical Care for healthcare providers and leadership training for her network of 1500 instructors nationwide.

Sherrie received a Bachelor of Science in Public Administration from Hawthorne University, Paramedic training at the University Texas Health Science Center, Dallas, Texas, a graduate of Landmark Education and GAP Leadership Programs. She has served as adjunct Health & Safety faculty for Texas A&M University, Texas Engineer Extension Service (TEEX), Oklahoma State University. She teaches Disaster Site Training through the Volunteer College, Gatlin Tennessee. Sherrie received her Master Practitioner of Neuro Linguistic Programming from the Association for Integrative Psychology.

Sherrie has experience in the Medical, Healthcare, Safety, Education, Communication, Leadership, and Neuro Dynamics arenas and counsel's safety clients and network of instructors nationwide.